ACTAtek is leading multinational biometric company based in United Kingdom and having regional offices in many countries worldwide. We are the first leading company which came out with the idea of ID-Video Security solution integration with access control system. This innovation will surely bring a drastic change in industry, as now we made it possible for user to search Video History based on User IDs, which nobody else can do. All patents are registered by ACTAtek. The ACTAtek is a Linux, web-based Biometrics and RFID smart card system for access control, time attendance and payroll systems. ACTAtek is SSL-encrypted with all software and hardware built into the system. It can be used in a standalone mode without the need of a dedicated architecture, but it can also be used in conjunction with existing infrastructure. Network support from the TCP/ IP networking protocol allows ACTAtek to be operated in a multiple device environment. The tool supports all legacy card-based systems and
