"Dr. Mamsa is an MD, in general psychiatry having acquired his training from Sanford School of Medicine & University of SD, USA. His multi modal treatment methodology involves a combination of expertise in psychopharmacology (medical treatment) with psychotherapy. Based on his background in brain chemistry research, training in cognitive behavioral therapy, and psychoanalysis scholarship from American Psychoanalytical Association, New York. He emphasizes a strong belief in the additive effect of various treatment modalities to work in conjunction rather than simply prescribing medication."
