The Santos company has its roots in a small carpentry shop from the beginning of the 20th century, located very close to Santiago de Compostela. Managed by Antonio Santos Barral, already in 1923 it had four employees. In 1952, José Santos continued the path started by his father, opening a new carpentry workshop in the outskirts of Santiago de Compostela. It was the beginning of Santos as we know it today, a family business that has developed its own style in the kitchen furniture market, creating a quality product and functional design tailored to an increasingly demanding consumer. Our latest collections show the determination to continue surprising the customer through maximum functionality, ergonomics and balanced shapes. Our Living line also allows us to equip rooms adjacent to our kitchens, such as living rooms, dining rooms, studies, etc., facilitating coherence, harmony and uniformity in shared spaces. The home is a reflection of the user's personality. We want to provide a unique kitchen to a unique user. This concern for innovation has been present in Santos since its inception and has manifested itself throughout its history.
